WANTED--APARTMENT, FLAT OR BUNGALOW
FOR SALE--DINING ROOM SUIT
Helena Sheldon, Ext. 550

FLASH: Info's Mildred Roth has come up with a killer-diller pun.
It takes two people to put it over.
First she asks her stooge a question
(any question). The stooge answers
"Oh, featherbed"! Milly then turns herself completely around and delivers the big punch-line. "A soft answer turneth away Roth"!
We just received a letter from John Hanson who is on military furlough from the Fin. diviz. He has been promoted to grade of Sergeant and transferred from J. B. Station Hospital to the new General Dispensary,
Medical Depot, 12th and Spruce Sts.,
St. Louis.

DOCTORIZATION PLAN--IT COSTS SO LITTLE TO HAVE AND SO EXPENSIVE NOT TO HAVE

PO-WEM

Let's go for a tramp in the typhoon
Though our hiking has met with frustration
We could turn our backs on the REA
And work on flood conservation.

And then there is the story of another would-be hiker, one S. Lally (pop) who wouldn't let a little rain interfere with his picnic. Alta Brown must be pretty sure of her handsome Sea Bee to introduce him to the femme fatales in the M. B. Diviz. If he hadn't had training during his stay in the jungles he might have fallen into the mantrap which was cleverly concealed in the middle of the floor and spent the rest of his stay being coddled by our everloving females. As the story goes, Jen. Stanek stepped in some wet cement in front of the house next door just to get in solid with the new neighbors. Other ways have been found to meet the boy next door but this is the most original and effective yet to be heard. F. P. Wood taking few days leave on account of he couldn't get a reservation back before Friday. Stranded in Miami? Col. Sass & H(andsome) Clark were with him for part of the trip, returning in pre-war luxury via the auto. Maybe it was Peggy (Gertrude) Fotsch who started that fire on the 4th floor by getting the people all burned up at seeing her wear a Swastika. Just a souvenir from husband so you can put down those double barreled shot guns now and let Peggy out of confinement. Benton MacKaye (retired) has completed a sojourn in Knoxville, where he completed a report on "A Method for Planning the Electrification of the Missouri Valley (The Place of the "G&T" in an MVA." Is heading eastward toward Shirley, Mass. Benton usually arrived at office about 7 a.m. unlocked the door and turned the lights on. Now F. Wettengel and J. Owen vie for the privilege of turning on the lights, if not unlocking the door. I. Powell taking off to welcome home (with open arms) Petty Officer 1st Class Joe Greene. Woo-woo, some of the experiences Charlie Luria could spill about his hectic trip to New York. He was next in line for the wolf badge of 1945 but Hank Milbert beat him by at least three leaps and an extra howl. Some of those boys are just like lawn-mowers - gay old blades who still like to go around. HERE, THERE, AND EVERYWHERE: Ernie Wright spent a couple of days in the hospital. Must be that all Regional Heads in D&C have hospitalization, or they figure it is one way to get a rest. New employees in the Pool for the wolves to howl over; June Leister, Mary V. Runyan, Wanda W. Zude and Frances E. Crowe. Emily Scott on the not-so-well list at Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati. J. Owen will be married sometime this week in Lincoln, Neb. E. Raty vacationing so she can be present when her nephew receives his commission as Ensign in the Navy. Every time J. Asher passes a phone booth, he'll stop and say to his companion, "Pardon me while I step into this booth, I've been trying to find a little place that I can call home." H. Schuh who has been hospitalized for the past five weeks expects to return to her desk soon. Chubby Thomas Hurd in Earley's office - going to have to call on "That Man" for enlarged office space. We just received a call from a friend of C. Starns, who is on military furlough from M. B. Diviz, stating that Carroll is working hard and just received promotion to Cpl. I. Cummings and Kay Goodwin are looking for companions to go horseback riding - could be they are tired of eating off the mantle by themselves. J. Wiseman lacking WPB priority plumbing was seen in a St. Louis emporium diligently searching for a bird bath. JMT must be taking effect--in one Diviz, anyway--it has swept completely thru Operations and we think everyone's proposal must have been "space." In one room it appears that they will have to add balconies to take care of the influx while in another they seem to be making room for holding the Birthday Ball--and that reminds us to put a red circle around May 11 'cause that's when you go to the Birthday Ball. We hate ourselves for this one but blame it on the Easter Season. We found out that the reason the Bunnies have shiny noses is because they wear their powder puffs on the other end. (With apologies to Susie Norton, the Assoc. Ed. who is taking a much needed rest from this Scandal Sheet. Her substitutesssss (etc.) wish to remain anonymous).
